THE REV THEATRE CO. ON TOUR

25-26

“ENERGETIC. ENGAGING. EDUCATIONAL.”

MEETING THE NEEDS OF EDUCATORS
AND STUDENTS FOR OVER 65 YEARS!

Dear educators and friends,

This report card marks an important time in our season at The REV, offering a chance to reflect on how our in-school programming is received by students, teachers, and administrators.

Feedback is the cornerstone of our success, which is why every classroom visit begins with a teacher evaluation. Your insights help us measure our impact and refine our programs to better serve your needs.

Last season, we introduced classroom and student response forms, giving students the opportunity to share their perspectives and experiences in their own words.

In the 1970s, our organization's leaders asked educators what they wanted from a visiting theatre program. The answer was clear: tailored performances that support curriculum and engage students developmentally. These conversations inspired the unique framework of our Sequential Dramatics Program.

Today, our program pairs pre-performance workshops with carefully crafted productions that connect to curriculum, educate, inspire, and spark change.

We deeply value your partnership and feedback, which help us continue to grow and serve your students. Thank you for your ongoing commitment to the arts!

LISA CHASE, Director of Education

STUDENT RESPONSES

Last year, we introduced both a classroom response form and an individual student response form, giving students a meaningful opportunity to reflect on their recent visit. These forms allow students to share their experiences in their own words and provides valuable feedback on what they enjoyed and what they might change. Their insights are invaluable as we shape our future programming.

We received 120 classroom response forms where students were asked, post-performance, to share words that came to their minds. These were the most frequent responses.

"It was the best" "She came with a lot of enthusiasm and excitement" "Great team work project" "Thanks for coming in" "The activity was inspiring" "Everyone had a job" "Everyone felt included" "Everyone loved their job"

Real comments made by real students. Thank you so much for coming in and making our morning a great one!

– 5th grade teacher at Cincinnatus Central School

My students were engaged the entire time! They haven't stopped talking about it. I also have 5 students writing their own stories and plays now. Thank you!

– 3rd grade teacher from Candor Elementary

My students enjoyed the show! Many students in our district are unable to experience the theatre outside of school. The REV does a beautiful job bringing the theatre experience to the students. Thank you!

– 5th grade teacher from Millard Fillmore Elementary

This lesson reinforced the value of creating meaningful characters and settings. My students struggle understanding why authors make the creative choices they do as they write, so reinforcing this standard is invaluable.

– Teacher at Mount Morris Elementary

Loved the emphasis on creativity, critical thinking, and communication. The activities aligned perfectly.

– 4th grade teacher at Victor Intermediate School
